

DR. LISA NORMAN

- » Born and raised in Dalton, Georgia
- » Lives in Winston-Salem, North Carolina
- » Mother of two boys and two girls
- » General Surgical Pathologist
- » Attended Wake Forest University in Winston Salem, North Carolina
- » Earned a B.A. with a double major in Speech/Communications and Spanish
- » Devout Christian
- » Author of seven illustrated children's books

Lisa's love for poetry began at an early age and has continued throughout her life. Lisa considers her faith and family to be most important to her. She is the wife of a financial advisor, mother of four children, and a practicing physician.

While the character of Ellie is based on their oldest daughter, Lisa has instilled solid values in all of their children and now shares these lessons in her Ellie Asks books.

In an age of social media and outside influences, Lisa stresses the importance of basic human virtues to promote goodness in the early development of our precious children.

Lisa's books are sold in stores and at author signing events in addition to being available online.

THE "ELLIE ASKS" SERIES

In this charming series by Dr. Lisa Norman, readers meet Ellie, a young girl who lives with her mom and dad, her little sister, and her dog named Rose. Like most five-year-olds, Ellie enjoys roasting s'mores, ice skating, dancing, helping others, and spreading joy. She is also very curious about the world around her and asks her parents lots of questions, including the ones they answer in each book.

Readers of these books enjoy seeing Ellie and her beloved Rose in the beautiful hand-painted illustrations while learning about the important topics discussed by Ellie and her parents through whimsical rhyme.

A portion of all book sales is being donated to an organization dedicated to helping children.

In Jack's Divine Fruits, kids learn about the Fruits of the Spirit while enjoying the rhyming text and brightly colored pictures of Jack talking about his favorite fruits and spending time with his mom. When Jack mentions a fruit and all of its earthly attributes, his mom responds with a message about love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control.

Spend time with your little one and strengthen their connection to God with this charming, inspirational book.

This book is a perfect gift for young children or soon-to-be parents. It also makes a great bedtime story or storytime book for Sunday School classes.
